Createspace, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 216 x 90 mm. Language: Russian . Brand New Book. Here is my third Russian language textbook. For some reason, this book was much more difficult to write than the previous two. The opposite should have been the case as it was written for readers who speak and read Russian at the higher B1-B2 level; thus, I had more freedom to express my ideas and the plot could be more expressive. In The Story Canonisation, the number of new words is much larger - around 1,000 lexemes, all from various topics - and the grammar structures are more elaborate. The issue for me was more the context, the life context. 2014 was not an easy year for Russia and Russians, no matter what their political views. It was not an easy year for me either. It is this complexity and the ambiguousness of what happened - constantly referring to history - that I wanted to reflect upon in my book. Yet, I was writing a textbook, the key goal of which is to help learners of the Russian language. Moreover, there is an understanding that a textbook nowadays should be kind, humorous and inviting as there is far too much negativity around us, especially in the media and on social networks. My wonderful friends and colleagues also regularly reminded me of this. Inspired by the talent of Bulgakov, who mastered the skill of talking about complex subjects in an ironic form, I began writing the book which you can now see. As in my previous books, the events unfold on the island of Guadeloupe. Banker George must save the world or at the very least help humanity. But, alongside this, the reader will learn about another main character - Professor Voensky...
