Excerpt: . . . expected to end in producing only a ballad, became a more serious affair, and terminated in a work which was to become the foundation of the future fame of the author. Mr. Rhodes not only suggested the subject, but encouraged the poet in his task, and accelerated, by his persuasions, the publication of the poem; for so little did Montgomery himself calculate upon the immediate and subsequent celebrity of his work, that almost three years were suffered to elapse between the date of the paragraph alluded to, and the appearance of the Wanderer of Switzerland. --Memoirs of Montgomery, ii. 28. The foregoing incident deserves to be mentioned to the credit of Mr. Rhodes, for it was clearly a turning point in the history of his gifted friend: nor was this the only service to which the rising reputation of the poet was indebted.
